

GOL Announces April 2009 Traffic Figures

São Paulo, May 8, 2009 –GOL Linhas Aéreas Inteligentes S.A. (Bovespa: GOLL4 and NYSE: GOL), Brazil's low-cost airline, today released its preliminary traffic figures for April 2009.

Management's Comments

Demand on GOL's route network increased for the second consecutive month, mainly due to three extended holidays in April - Easter, Tiradentes Day and Labor Day (while Labor Day was officially May 1, the Friday holiday promoted travel on April 30). Given only Tiradentes Day was celebrated in April 2008 (Easter and Labor Day did not occur in April last year), there is a slight variation in monthly air traffic seasonality. Historically, the second quarter experiences lower demand as it is the only quarter with no peak holiday periods.

Domestic Market

Demand on GOL's route network increased for the second consecutive month, fueled by the period's three extended holidays.

In comparison with April 2008, domestic passenger traffic (RPK) fell by 14.8% and capacity (ASK) by 5.9%. The domestic occupancy rate (load factor) stood at 60%, versus 51% for the international market and 59% for the GOL system as a whole.

The Company maintained strict control over ASKs and continued with its previously announced revenue generation proposal, resulting in a net yield for April 2009 substantially higher than the R$19.43 centavos recorded in 2Q08, yet slightly less than the R$ 23.27 centavos registered in 2008 as a whole. It worth noting that yield in April 2008 was slightly down on the 2Q08 figure.

Press Release

International Market

International ASKs in April fell by 46.3% year-over-year, mainly due to the Company's decision to cease intercontinental operations in 2008. When compared to March 2009, the 4.8% reduction in international ASKs, reflected the recent repositioning of GOL's international route network to improve productivity.

The Company's international load factor fell 50.7% in April, when compared to the previous year, due to the aforementioned adjustments to the international route network. International load factor increased 7.2 percentage points when compared to March 2009, reflecting the high number of extended holidays in April's and, to a lesser extent, the Company's recent reduction in ASKs.

(*) April 2009 - preliminary data; final data for April 2008.

(1) Available seat kilometers represents the aircraft seating capacity multiplied by the number of kilometers the seats are flown.

(2) Revenue passenger kilometers represents the numbers of kilometers flown by revenue passengers.

(3) Load factor represents the percentage of aircraft seating capacity that is actually utilized (calculated by dividing revenue passenger kilometers by available seat kilometers).
